Why

OCEANR

- For the 2024 Paris Olympics, OCEANR collaborated with the organizing committee to produce sustainable team bibs for all participating teams. These bibs, essential for team identification during training sessions, warm-ups, and events, represented a seamless combination of functionality, durability, and environmental responsibility.
- OCEANR applied its expertise in sustainable manufacturing to create the bibs from recycled ocean plastic, aligning with the Paris Olympics' commitment to reducing its environmental footprint. Designed to endure the demands of high-performance sports, the team bibs also symbolized a broader movement toward sustainability in competitive sailing and beyond.

REVIVE OUR OCEANS

Every purchase helps fund our mission to remove 250,000 kilos of ocean waste by 2030.

WORKING TOGETHER TO REVIVE OUR OCEANS

Since founding OCEANR, our mission has always been to actively contribute to plastic-free oceans by supporting various cleanup projects around the world. Between 2018 and 2024, we've successfully funded the removal of 42,000 kilos of plastic.

In partnership with Enaleia, we supported one of the largest marine cleanup initiatives in the Mediterranean, removing significant amounts of ocean waste each year. By working directly with fishers, Enaleia prevents plastic from re-entering the sea and advanced ocean conservation, engaging hundreds of fishers across regions like the Mediterranean and Kenya.

Going forward we've decided to work with Plastic Fischer, the world's first organization to stop ocean plastic pollution at one of its major sources - the rivers. Together, we're committed to removing as much plastic as possible, starting with a goal of 25 tons in 2025.
